QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY AWARD IS FIT FOR A KING

For some people, responding to a crisis is a calling.

For David King that calling has lasted for over 38 years.

The NSW State Emergency Service volunteer and Deputy Controller from Hawkesbury Unit was today recognised for his enduring contribution to the NSW SES with the prestigious Emergency Services Medal.

Minister for Emergency Services David Elliott congratulated David for receiving the medal during the 2015 Queen's Birthday Honours.

"David has been actively engaged in developing the operational capability of the NSW SES for over 30 years. He has authored numerous training resources including vertical, road crash, flood and large animal rescue packages. He has also participated in, judged and organised rescue competitions," Mr Elliott said.

"David's work has been the foundation for generations of volunteers within the NSW SES and his desire to continually develop the organisation and its people at the heart of his motivation."

As an active Duty Operations Officer for road crash rescue for over 30 years, David has been a calm and reassuring face responding to some of the most tragic rescue situations in the Hawkesbury area.

NSW SES Commissioner Adam Dent expressed his gratitude for David's contribution to the NSW SES,

"David is the epitome of the humble quiet achiever, whose dedication, professionalism and expertise has been a constant in shaping our Service for over 30 years," Commissioner Dent said.

"His boundless energy and generous ability to mentor others has endeared him across the breadth of the organisation and I'm delighted his contribution has been recognised with this award."

"Can you keep my dog from getting out?"

"We Certainly Can!"

OAM for Ted Brooks

Ted Books, of South Windsor, receives a Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) for his service to local government, and to the Hawkesbury community.

A Hawkesbury Citizen of the Year in 1998, Mr Books was deputy mayor of Hawkesbury and a two-term councillor, and a foundation member of the Hawkesbury National Serviceman's Association.

AM for Ms Rhonda Clare HAWKINS, Oakville NSW. For significant service to higher education through governance and leadership roles, and as an advocate for social justice and gender equity.

Volunteer To Get Your Local Community Bank Branch Up And Running In The Hills

You too can volunteer to support the establishment of a local Bendigo Community Bank in Norwest.

The Steering Committee is seeking volunteers to assist in bringing the branch to life as soon as possible. Volunteers are needed to liaise with local charities, sporting groups, schools and the wider community to secure pledges of support for the branch and help reach our goal of opening the branch much quicker.

You don't need to ask for money – pledges are merely required to indicate interest in purchasing a parcel of shares in the new branch or transferring some banking business across to the new branch.

And don't forget that your assistance in establishing the branch is a great boost to the Hills community, as once it is in operation, the bank will support local community projects through community grants and funding of up to $40,000 per annum.

If you or anyone you know has a spare hour a week to assist with phone calls or manning stands at local gala days or in shopping centres, we would love to hear from you.

If you are involved in fund raising for any worthy local project or group, volunteering to assist the branch at this early stage could guarantee you an annual community grant through the Steering Committee's Community Partnership Program.

There are 20 grants of $1000 for up to 3 years up for grabs for those groups who provide the highest level of support during the pledging stage. One of the Steering Committee would be happy to come and talk to your group about how you can take advantage of this opportunity.

Nic Baines of the Norwest Steering Committee, says, "We are going strong with pledges but having a number of volunteers on board for a local Bendigo Bank branch in the area who can also obtain pledges will mean we will reach our end goal faster.

We would be grateful for any help these volunteers can provide."

To enquire about how you can help support a Bendigo Bank in Norwest, contact Nic Baines, Secretary of the Steering Committee, on 02 9894 8682.

LOCAL NEWS

Council Takes Stand Against SEPP 65

Hills Shire Councillors have deferred a planning proposal to allow for a 1900 unit residential development pending the outcome of a meeting between Hills Shire Mayor Clr Andrew Jefferies and NSW Planning Minister Rob Stokes.

Mayor Jefferies, Deputy Mayor Clr Dr Michelle Byrne and other Councillors have long campaigned for The Hills Shire Council to be exempt from the NSW Government's State Environmental Planning Policy 65 (SEPP 65), which sets out minimum apartment sizes that are smaller than those set by The Hills Development Control Plan (DCP).

Mayor Jefferies has long argued that the minimum sizes set out in SEPP 65 are not family friendly.

In a unanimously supported Mayoral Minute approved at Tuesday's meeting, Mayor Jefferies reiterated Council's position and expressed disappointment at a recent commitment by Mr Stokes to back state-wide minimum apartment sizes based on the Sydney CBD investor market.

Councillors took their concerns further by voting to defer a decision on a planning proposal for Spurway Drive, Baulkham Hills. This proposal, if approved, would allow a significant increase in density to an area that is yet to experience upgraded road access.

Deloitte Report Makes The Case For Light Rail For Carlingford

A Deloitte report which argues the case for a light rail line linking Parramatta to Strathfield via Sydney Olympic Park, actually reinforces why a route linking Parramatta to Macquarie Park via Carlingford is more urgently needed, said Hills Shire Mayor Clr Andrew Jefferies.

The report, commissioned by the West Line Partnership which is driven by the Western Sydney Business Chamber, makes the case for the rail line based on the fact that vacant, former oil refinery land between Rosehill and Silverwater could be rezoned for high density residential and commercial centres.

However Mayor Jefferies said that Parramatta and Macquarie Park were already highly developed and well located commercial centres in desperate need of more dedicated transport links. In the middle of the two commercial centres are more than the 22,000 Carlingford residents who have been waiting for a viable public transport option for four decades.

Mayor Jefferies said the NSW Government's Metropolitan Strategy A Plan for Growing Sydney makes the case for a light rail line linking Parramatta and Macquarie Park.

Mayor Jefferies said the NSW Government needed to alleviate the congestion for workers travelling throughout North and Western Sydney by committing to the Parramatta to Macquarie Park via Carlingford line.

Mayor Jefferies also pointed out that the Macquarie Park via Carlingford line would help alleviate traffic on Pennant Hills Rd, recently rated one of Sydney's worst roads for congestion by the NRMA.

sporting grounds will be placed on exhibition last Tuesday 9 June.

The Generic Plan of Management for Sportsgrounds has been updated to include Connie Lowe Reserve, Rouse Hill; Pye Avenue Reserve, Northmead; Turon Avenue Reserve, Baulkham Hills and MacKillop Drive Reserve, Baulkham Hills.

Hills Shire Mayor Cllr Andrew Jefferies said that he had asked Council staff to investigate whether there were additional parks throughout the Sydney Hills that could be used as sporting fields.

Residents can view the exhibited documents at www.thehills.nsw.gov.au.

More Affordable Housing needed for the Hawkesbury

The Hawkesbury is facing a growing affordable housing problem which must be addressed. One of the causes is that the number of NSW owned social housing properties (for low income and disadvantaged tenants) as a percentage of all housing in the Hawkesbury area has declined significantly and at a faster rate than social housing in Greater Western Sydney.

To respond to the decrease in affordable housing, Hawkesbury City Council has developed a Draft Affordable Housing Policy which recommends a range of strategies to increase the supply of affordable housing (including affordable rental housing) in serviced residential areas of the town centres of the Hawkesbury. This policy is now on display for community consultation and Council is calling on residents to have their say.

Last Timber Bridge in The Hills Demolished

The last timber bridge in the Sydney Hills is gone, with demolition works now complete on the Mud Island Bridge.

Hills Shire Mayor Cllr Andrew Jefferies said that while some may be sad to see a link to the past disappear, it was all in the name of progress.

"We are one of the few Councils in NSW that have managed to be completely rid of timber bridges," Mayor Jefferies said.

"This means that our rural residents will have a greatly reduced risk whenever they drive across the Mud Island Bridge."

"Work is still underway to construct the new bridge and we expect to be able to open the road by the end of June."

The bridge is currently closed and residents can use Sackville Ferry Road as an alternative route.

The time is NOW for Light Rail to Carlingford

An essential light rail network linking Parramatta to Macquarie Park via Carlingford should be prioritised ahead of a 'white elephant' Sydney Olympic Park proposal by the Labor-centric Western Sydney Business Chamber, according to Mayor of The Hills Shire, Councillor Andrew Jefferies.

A report commissioned by a consortium, driven by the former failed Labor Government Member for Granville, David Borger, makes a case for a rail line based on an idea that vacant land between Rosehill and Silverwater could be rezoned in the future for high density residential and commercial centres – which, while merit-worthy, would become a white elephant for the next decade at least, according to Mayor Jefferies.

"All four proposed light rail options have some merit, but a route linking Parramatta to Macquarie Park via Carlingford is undoubtedly the most urgently needed," Mayor Jefferies said.

BIRDS GALORE

by Andrew Patrick

More than 160 species of birds have been seen in the Parramatta local government area by members of the Cumberland Birds Observers Club in the past 10 years. That represents an astonishing 22% of all bird species found in Australia.

One of the best places to start birdwatching is Parramatta Park. Here you can easily see waterbirds such as Pacific Black Ducks and Eurasian Coots nibbling away at water weeds. Little Pied Cormorants are often seen stretching out their wings to dry and Black Swans glide along the river. The park also contains iconic Australian birds such as the Australian Magpie and Laughing Kookaburra as well as vast raucous flocks of Sulphur-crested Cockatoos and Little Corellas.

Bushland areas contain a great variety of small birds which are particularly noticeable in spring when many are singing and breeding. Places such as Galarangi Reserve, Carlingford and Waddangalli Reserve, Guildford are home to birds like Superb Fairy-wrens, the males looking gorgeous in their blue and black breeding plumage. Honeyeaters, finches, fantails, whistlers, treecreepers, robins and scrubwrens can be hard to see at first as they flit amongst the shrubbery but with patience you will be rewarded with views of these delightful bush gems.

Some birds migrate through the area in summer and can be seen in many backyards. Two of the most noticeable are two loud cuckoos, the Common Koel and the Channel-billed Cuckoo. The koel lays its eggs in the nests of wattlebirds and the Channel-bill lets currawongs and ravens raise its young.

The Cumberland Bird Observers' Club conducts about 40 birdwatching trips every year all over the greater Sydney region. Some outings are especially designed for families with children aged 5 to 12. The outings are free and you are very welcome to come along. For more information, visit www.cboc.org.au.

Top Of The Lake: No Goodbyes Thanks Sunday, 14 June 2015 - 9:50pm Final

#ourABC

Jamie's death turns the town against Matt Mitcham (Peter Mullan), with his mother, Simone, and others prepared to testify against him.

Robin (Elisabeth Moss) knows Tui's (Jacqueline Joe) baby is due, and is worried about how she'll manage alone. She confronts Al (David Wenham) about what happened with Matt on the lake, and he reveals that Matt wants to confess, but only to her. Prepared with recording equipment and police back-up, Robin goes to hear Matt confess, but what he reveals is not what she was expecting.

Back with Johnno (Thomas M Wright), Robin has to confront her new reality. Though they want to deny what they've been told, they can't shake the effect of what Matt has revealed.

Robin goes to see Al wanting to push through on a conviction. He listens sympathetically, but then insists another policeman witness the conversation, claiming that Matt's confession has jeopardized Robin's neutrality.

With no recourse, Robin is desperate, and drinks herself to a standstill, and then tries to take her own life. When that fails, she finds herself in front of GJ, who tells her to lie down like a cat and sleep – heal herself.

An enraged Matt storms around ranting at his sons, and then heads off on his own to find Tui.

Robin summons all she has left to get to Tui before Matt does. But nothing can prepare her for where she will have to go or what she'll see. Acting on instinct she heads off to confront the dark creator alone where the investigation reaches its shocking conclusion.

Blood + Thunder: The Sound Of Alberts Thursday, 25 June 2015 - 8:30pm Series Premiere

#ourABC

This two-part documentary takes viewers back to the '60s and '70s and charts how Australia got its own rock and roll thanks to the life-long bond between music company Alberts and the Youngs.

It's a story tinged with tragedy and triumph, and it happened from the legendary Alberts Studios.

It's 1964. The conservative, cultured Albert music dynasty and the Young family, an immigrant family from Glasgow residing at the Villawood Migrant Hostel, both have music running through their veins. Their sons come together and one of the most exciting periods in Australian cultural history begins.

Born into the music dynasty J Albert & Sons, Ted Albert joins the board in 1963, aged 25, and is determined to create an Australian sound. He first signs Billy Thorpe & The Aztecs and it's their hit Poison Ivy that's at the top of the charts when The Beatles tour the country in 1964 – an extraordinary achievement.

Also in 1963 the Youngs arrive in Sydney from Scotland. In no time at all teenagers George Young, Johannes Vandenbary (Harry Vanda), Stevie Wright and others form The Easybeats. With one audition an unlikely life-long partnership is forged between the cultured, reserved Ted and the working class Young clan, which included eight kids.

The Easybeats win over the locals with She's So Fine, then an overseas deal with United Artists in the US sees them recording at London's legendary Abbey Road Studios. Once George and Harry put their heads together as songwriters they eventually crack the international market with Friday on My Mind in 1966. It prompts Ted to start matching their diverse song catalogue with the musical talent under his roof.

Alberts hits flood the charts, not just rock and roll but cracking pop too – Ted Mulry scored with Falling in Love Again (1971), the second of seven top 10 singles he records with Alberts after Julia, Alison MacCallum with Superman (1972), and John Paul Young's Pasadena (1972).

After four years in London, George and Harry move back to Australia and become in-house songwriters and producers at Alberts. It's a time when rebellion fills young Australian hearts. With Ted's patronage, the pair take their cue from the pounding guitar riffs coming out of tough suburban pubs.

The '70s also sees two other Youngs – Angus and Malcolm – step up onto the stage and into the Alberts family: blood brothers not just to George, but also to Ted.

Operation Maneater Monday, 15 June - 8.30pm New Series Premiere

Veterinarian Mark Evans uses technology to tackle three deadly predators: the great white shark, crocodile and polar bear. When these animals attack humans, both sides lose. As more people are killed or maimed, more animals are killed in retaliation. Evans wants to find ways to break this circle of violence and protect both humans and animals. Follow him as he tries out ingenious high-tech solutions to the most hostile wildlife conflicts on earth.

Episode One: Crocodile

Mark travels to Namibia's Chobe River, a place that's known as the croc attack capital of the world. Crocodiles here are growing in size and number and so is the frequency of attacks. Each time an attack occurs, the locals kill crocs in retaliation. To find a way to keep both people and crocodiles safe, Evans joins leading croc experts Rom Whitaker and Dr. Patrick Aust to carry out a radical new experiment. The idea is to train crocs to associate the sound of a bell with an electric shock. Evans meets attack victims and puts the croc training experiment to the test, with surprising results.

THROUGH STATE MP'S EYES by David Elliott, Member for Baulkham Hills

ELLIOTT CALLS FOR NSW CARER'S AWARDS NOMINATIONS

Nominations are now open for the NSW Carers Awards 2015.

The NSW Carers Awards 2015 are an opportunity to celebrate the dedication, commitment and valuable contributions of unpaid carers in Baulkham Hills and across NSW.

Carers provide many vital hours of unpaid support to members of our community, improving their lives and saving Australian taxpayers an estimated $40 billion in formal care costs annually.

One in 10 people in NSW dedicate their time to caring for someone who needs care because of disability, mental illness, a chronic health condition, dementia or ageing.

This amazing role is selflessly played by so many in our community and this is a great time to honour these silent heroes.

Nominating a carer for the NSW Carer's Awards is a unique way of saying thank you and let local carers and organisations that go above and beyond know they are truly valued.

Nominations can be made in the following categories:

Carers Award - Individual

- For individuals who have made an exceptional contribution to caring.

Carers Award - Organisation

- For community groups, government agencies, or other organisations who provide exceptional support to carers.

This year, up to 55 awards are available for individuals and organisations to be honoured during Carers Week, which runs from Sunday 11 – Saturday 17 October 2015.

Nominations for the NSW Carers Awards 2015 close on Monday 29 June at 5.00pm and can be made online at www.facs.nsw.gov.au/carersawards.

The 2015 NSW Carer of the Year will be announced at a ceremony at Parliament House on Monday 12 October 2015.

MEMORIAL AVENUE UPGRADE AT KELLYVILLE MOVES TO NEXT STAGE

The major upgrade of Memorial Avenue at Kellyville is moving ahead with planning approval now in place and detailed design to start.

The planned widening of Memorial Avenue to a four lane divided road between Old Windsor Road and Windsor Road at Kellyville aims to improve travel for all road users in Sydney's North West.

The NSW Government committed $1 million this financial year to progress plans for the upgrade which will reduce congestion and improve safety as developments in the area increase.

Thank you to the community members who took the time to provide feedback to the Review of Environmental Factors (REF) and concept design last year.

A submissions report is now online responding to key issues important to the community.

Detailed design set to start in coming weeks will highlight how two kilometres of Memorial Avenue will be widened between Windsor Road and Old Windsor Road at Kellyville to a four-lane divided road with a wide central median.

Pedestrian safety will be improved with new traffic lights to be installed at two intersections, twin bridges installed over Strangers Creek, a shared path for pedestrians and cyclists and bus priority at traffic lights.

Roads and Maritime will continue to keep the community informed as the project progresses.

Community members are invited to view a submissions report now online for the project at www.rms.nsw.gov.au/roadprojects.

To request a hard copy of the report by phone please call 1800 784 847 or by email to memorial_avenue_upgrade@rms.nsw.gov.au.

BOOST FOR BUSES IN THE HILLS WITH MORE THAN 120 EXTRA SERVICES

Bus customers in the Hills District will benefit from an extra 128 weekly services, giving commuters greater frequency and more weekend travel options.

Hillsbus customers have more frequent buses into the city as well as better links between local suburbs and the Macquarie Park employment centre.

The extra services are being introduced as part of the NSW Government's Growth Buses program which has seen more than 11,100 weekly bus trips introduced since March 2011, including more than 2,900 in the Hills District.

There are now 75 extra weekly bus services between the Hills and the CBD, catering for peak hour commuters and making it a little easier to get to work or appointments in town.

There are also 53 extra weekly trips between Rouse Hill, Castle Hill and Macquarie Park, which will really benefit many local residents who work there.

The extra weekly services introduced include:

- 30 additional trips per week on route 615X between North Kellyville/Kellyville and the CBD, increasing service frequency for morning and afternoon weekday peaks
- 45 additional trips per week on route 616X between Kellyville Ridge, Glenwood and the CBD, increasing service frequency for morning and afternoon weekday peaks
- 53 additional and extended trips per week on route 619 between Rouse Hills, Castle Hill and Macquarie Park, increasing morning and afternoon weekday peak frequency and increasing service frequencies on Saturdays

There will also be minor timetable changes to some existing trips on routes 616X and 619. Information on the new routes and timetable changes is available online at www.transportnsw.info

DCH ANIMAL ADOPTIONS

Bolt is a very handsome and striking looking Tabby. He has that tigerish look about him and enjoys a game of chase. He has a delightful and playful nature and loves to run and dart off, never going far as he likes to remain close by his carers. Bolt enjoys a cuddle and attention, interacts well with his siblings and carers. He is a gentle tiger and quite a lovable boy. Toilet trained, he eats twice a day and sleeps in at night. He is chicken friendly and has yet to be introduced to any dogs. We would like to see Bolt find a home in a loving interactive family, be it many, a couple or a caring individual. A back yard would be ideal however will do feel he could adapt if needed to a unit environment. Maybe a green jungle balcony could be provided, he'd love that! He is microchipped, desexed, vaccinated, flea and wormed treated.

There are times in one's life that are life changing. This is a story of one such time.

Dateline, November 3rd, 1958, the place, Henbury, Bristol, England.

The occasion was a farewell party. I was, along with my cousins, Barry and Keith, in an upstairs bedroom. As for my sisters I had no idea of where they were or what they were doing. I guess my older sister being seventeen years old would have been with the adults downstairs. My younger sister was probably with my cousin Lorraine, sister to Barry and Keith. We boys were getting up to mischief, as I would sneak downstairs, slip under one of the tables which were laden with food and drink and then grab a couple of bottles of "Babycham", a popular drink at the time in post war Britain that was still getting over the devastation of WW2 which had ended a little over a decade earlier. I would sneak the "Babycham" upstairs where my cousins and I would try to drink it. At that age, I don't think any of us thought it was very good.

As for the farewell party taking place downstairs. The farewell was for our family. Sometime earlier, my parents had decided that they would attempt to make a new life in a new land. The options were apparently at that time, Canada, South Africa, New Zealand or Australia. How or why they decided upon Australia I do not know. Maybe it was from my father's experiences at Tobruk during the war in which he would have been fighting alongside Australian troops. But Australia it was. They had written to Australia House and had been sent a lot of paraphernalia which told of life in Australia, a land of beaches, sunshine, friendly people etc. Naturally it painted a rosy picture of life down under. Perhaps that is why a lot of British migrants were called "Whinging Poms", because life down under was not always as portrayed. I'll get to that later in this article. My father had sold his shop in the centre of Bristol and had sold his car, probably at Shepton Mallet, a market village in Somerset where he had often gone to the car auctions to buy or sell his cars.

The day following the farewell, it was time to leave. Our home, which was at the time a "Council House" similar to Housing Commission homes in Sydney had been reallocated to none other than my best friend at school, Geoffrey's family. Geoffrey continued to live in that home up to the late 1990s I have since discovered. On the day of our leaving Bristol for the last time we caught a taxi to Temple Meads Railway Station, where we boarded a train that would take us to Swindon. There we alighted to board another train that took us to Southampton. Upon arriving at Southampton we found a Bed & Breakfast for the night. Next morning it was time for us to make our way to the waterfront. As a treat for my younger sister and I, my parents took us to an amusement park where we both enjoyed a few rides. We went from there to the dockside, where we found many of our relatives waiting to see us off. We boarded our ship, the Sitmar liner, "Fairsea" which was to be our home for the next five or six weeks. For a boy of eleven years of age, it was all an adventure. On board we were segregated. My father and I were allocated bunks (more like hammocks) in the lower decks up the front of the ship. My mother and sisters were allocated a more luxurious cabin with another woman and her daughter. My father and I shared our so called cabin with perhaps a dozen or more other males. I don't recall any other boys in our cabin though.

As the ship pulled away from the docks, streamers were thrown from both the ship and the shore, something that does not happen now unfortunately. We sailed into the Solent and then into the English Channel and as we sailed away we could see the fireworks and bonfires being lit for it was Guy Fawkes Day in Britain.

Travelling through the Bay of Biscay the sea was a little rougher until we reached the calm of the Mediterranean. Our first stop was Port Said in Egypt, where we entered the Suez Canal. There the ship was boarded by Arab & Egyptian traders selling trinkets and a variety of other goods. I had been a stamp collector since the age of six or seven and one of the traders was selling packages of foreign stamps. I bought a package which was supposed to contain quite a large number of stamps. I opened the package back in the cabin and found that there were only a handful of stamps and the rest was newspaper. My father took the package back to the trader and demanded my money back. A lot of the other passengers bought camel shaped foot stools or small camels only to find so I later heard that the filling in the camel shaped stool and small camels was hospital waste such as used bandages.

Our second stop on the voyage was Aden, which at the time was a British Colony and as we were all British we were allowed to go ashore. I don't remember a great deal about Aden. I recall that there were markets and shops around. I don't think we travelled far from the shoreline as I don't remember catching a bus or taxi so I think we all walked around, looking in shops etc.

From Aden it was then straight across the Indian Ocean, where I first saw flying fish, to Fremantle. I have written in a previous issue of our stop at Fremantle. From Fremantle we sailed on to Melbourne where we lived for around four months and then to Sydney.

So the decision of my parents to come to Australia and to Sydney in particular has certainly been life changing for myself and my sisters. If we had stayed in England, or even Melbourne what would have been the effect upon my life? What career or jobs would I have had? Where would I have lived? Many of my relatives back in Britain I was never to see again, including my cousins mentioned earlier (Barry and Keith)

I made reference to "Whinging Poms" earlier in this article. In the material that intended migrants received back in the UK the photographs of homes etc. were enticing, to arrive in Australia on the other side of the world from where you departed to be taken by bus to a camp consisting of hot, metal "Nissen" huts with community shared bathrooms, showers, toilets, laundries and canteens was a far cry from what had been expected and rules such as "no cooking" in the huts etc. did not help. The friendliness of Australians at that time was also disappointing to many. Many Australians may have had trouble understanding the various British accents, I know that I do, and may have made jokes about it. However there was also a degree of anti-migrant feeling around. It probably wasn't helped by the superior attitude of some of the British migrants who felt that the Australians were merely "colonials" and that Australia was still "British". The feeling of "Empire" was still strong in the 1950s, when people would claim that you could travel the length of Africa from Cairo to Cape Town and not leave British territory. Perhaps part of the anti-migrant feeling may have been from competition for jobs, housing, etc. or maybe remnants of Anti-British feeling from Irish-Australians. I enjoy every minute of living in Australia, it is my home and has been since 1958. My wife and my children were all born in Australia. I would not change it for the world.

Aussie Pumps

Tax Change Drives Jetter Sales

Drain jetting has become even more affordable for plumbers thanks to the 100% tax depreciation rule change made by the Government in the May 2105 budget. Small businesses can depreciate assets up to the value of $20,000 immediately, with no limit on the number of assets claimed.

"We getting a huge response from plumbers looking to take advantage of the new tax break", said Jetters Edge principal, Bill Miller. "Record low interest rates and the new tax depreciation rules mean lots of plumbers are looking to upgrade their gear and maximise their tax deductions before the end of this financial year," he said.

The Jetters Edge offer a wide range of jetters from the Aussie Cobra 4300psi machine, a real workhorse, right up to the big King Cobra, a Honda twin-cylinder powered 5000 psi machine with a huge amount of grunt.

For example, an Aussie Cobra jetter package starts from as little as $7,652 ex GST. For a sole trader paying 45% tax his nett price becomes $4,209 after tax back.

The Jetters Edge, Miller's Sydney based pressure jetting specialist operation is at the cutting edge of high pressure drain cleaning. Bill Miller worked with Australian Pump Industries, the country's biggest manufacturer in developing machines that take the danger and the hard work out of drain cleaning.

"Our machines can clean drains in as little as four minutes with plumbers telling us that the average is around ten minutes. By the time you clean up after the job you're gone within twenty minutes," he said.

Purchasing an Aussie Cobra through "The Jetters Edge" is simple with finance being approved sometimes within twelve hours. Rates are cheap and provide plumbers with a real opportunity to value add their business and build profitability.

The machines, built on the big production line at Australian Pump's Castle Hill based two and half acre factory, are manufactured to ISO9001 Quality Standards and use "Big Berty" super heavy duty triplex pumps to provide loads of pressure and flow.

The Jetters Edge claim there are only three reasons why plumbers should invest in a high pressure Aussie Jetter. "It's safer, it's easier, and it's a lot more profitable," said Bill Miller.

For further information contact The Jetters Edge or Australian Pump Industries or see www.thejettersedge.com.au or www.aussiepumps.com.au.

Plumbers are taking advantage of the Government's change to the tax depreciation rules to maximise their tax deductions for this financial year.
